This warranty is only valid or enforceable if the purchaser has paid Nuplex Industries or its licensed contractor for its purchases in full, including retentions. A practical completion certificate must have been provided to the licensed contractor.

This warranty is the sole form of recourse. This warranty becomes void if the opportunity to make good is not given to the licensed contractor who held the original contract.

This warranty does not cover failure or problems caused by defective use, improper design of the project or structure, or structural failure.

Normal product wear and tear is specifically excluded from this warranty.

Consequential damage as a result of any failure is not covered and liability is limited to repair of Nuplex materials.

The applying contractor shall inform Nuplex Industries within ten days of occurrence of any failure which may be covered by this warranty and shall not make any repair before examination of the project by Nuplex Industries Technical staff.

To the client:

Any questions or claims on this warranty must be made directly to the company who undertook the contract for the client. Their name and contact details appears below.
